Below the text is a video thumbnail titled 'Set Goals. rstems. Goal Setting Is a Hamster Wheel. Learn to Set Systems Instead. | Adam Alter'. The video description reads: 'You've just achieved a goal you've been working towards for two years. You did it! Congratulations. Someone asks you: how does it feel? "Kind of...'. 1 - Merch By Amazon

Merch by Amazon Overview

Merch by Amazon makes it easy for you to create, promote and sell your branded merchandise with no risk and no up-front costs. You simply supply the artwork, choose the t-shirt type and color(s), and then promote your shirts in your app, blog or on social media. Amazon takes care of the rest, including production, sales, shipping and creating a product page on Amazon.com - all at no cost to you.

The screenshot shows the Merch by Amazon landing page. At the top right, there are links for "Resources" and "Sign In". The main banner features the "merch by amazon" logo on the left, a play button icon in the center, and three t-shirts on the right. The t-shirts are: a grey one with a cartoon bear wearing a blue hat and the text "alphabear", a blue one with a cartoon monster and the text "M. SINGING MONSTERS", and a green one with a cartoon character and the text "TRIVIA CRACK". Below the banner, there is a message: "At this time, Merch by Amazon is available by invitation only." Below this message, there are three numbered steps: 1. Sign in with the Amazon account that you want associated with Merch by Amazon. 2. Fill out the invitation request form on the following screen. 3. We will notify you once your request has been approved. At the bottom, there is an orange button labeled "Request invitation".

About Michael Essek:

Hello! I'm Michael Essek.

I'm a full-time T-Shirt Seller, Illustrator and Designer from the UK.

In the summer of 2013 I began producing designs for T-Shirts, and uploading them to sites like Redbubble & Society6. Shortly after this I began selling through my 'own-brand' t-shirt website.

I have had designs featured on TeeFury, BustedTees, ShirtPunch, and other popular T-Shirt sites.

By the end of the first year my profits from such sites were averaging a minimum of $1000/month. After 3 years my earnings are around $7000/month. This income is almost entirely passive, required very little upfront financial investment, and relies on no paid marketing. I don't print T-Shirts myself and I don't handle stock.

(My T-Shirt earnings since 2013 – as of midway through September 2016. The tall blue line – August 2016 – represents just over $13k in profit).

I believe that anyone with competent design abilities can achieve similar (if not much better) results within a similar timeframe, thanks to the ever-increasing methods for creative individuals to make money online.

All you need is the ability to create designs (or commission them), some good ideas, a willingness to learn, and dedication.

This blog is a place for me to share what I have learned (and continue to learn) about generating and growing passive income from creative work. I believe the advice I share will help you to start making money from your designs – or to increase your earnings if you are already selling your artwork online.

4 Strategies To Tier Up Fast ON MERCH BY AMAZON

Got Your Merch By Amazon Approval? 4 Strategies To Help You Tier Up Fast

Last Updated: April 27, 2017

When you get your Merch By Amazon account approval, you get just 10 design 'slots' to fill.

In order to increase your total number of slots (or 'tier up') – you need to make at least 10 sales.

Note: Amazon actually says that tiering up is not based solely on sales. And I quote: “Admission to these tiers are based not only on sales, but the quality of the products being sold by the content creator as well.” Worth knowing!

Anyway – as you climb through the tiers you should find it gets easier to make sales, because – generally speaking – the more designs you have live, the greater your chances of generating sales.

How To Outsource T-Shirt Designs ...THE RIGHT WAY

How To Outsource T-Shirt Designs The Right Way (+ Mistakes To Avoid)

Last Updated: April 10, 2017

With the increasing growth in the Print-On-Demand T-Shirt industry – and platforms like Merch By Amazon – demand has increased for cheap and easy T-Shirt designs.

This has flooded the market with designers offering T-Shirt artwork at very low prices (eg. from $5 per design through sites like Fiverr) – which can appear very tempting for newcomers looking to get a lot of designs for as low a price as possible.

And although what constitutes a ‘quality’ design is subjective, there are a lot of ways in which cheap designs can be a liability, rather than an asset.

5 Lessons from Increasing Output (AND WHY IT MATTERS)

5 Lessons From Increasing Design Output (And Why It Matters)

Last Updated: April 10, 2017

December 2016 was my best month ever for T-Shirt sales and income.

It blew everything up to that point out of the water.

But – if I'm honest – I was somehow a little disappointed, and felt it could have been better.

Why?

Because the total number of design available on my single biggest sales channel (Merch By Amazon) was significantly diminished throughout November and December (through a combination of Amazon's introduction of the new 60-day-rule, plus a crackdown on designs that violated Amazon's design policies).

PROS, CONS & HEADACHES

Selling T-Shirts On Amazon Merch vs. Seller Central – Pros & Cons (& Headaches)

Last Updated: April 10, 2017

Update! A lot of the issues discussed in this post have since been resolved, please see this blog post for an updated version.

Let's talk about Amazon!

When it comes to selling T-Shirts on Amazon, you have a couple of options.

- 1) Merch By Amazon. You upload artwork – and Amazon prints and ships the T-Shirts for you – paying you a percentage of each sale made.
- 2) Amazon Seller Central. You sell Shirts directly to customers via Amazon, and are responsible for the printing and shipping.

3 MARKETING TIPS

Selling T-Shirts On Instagram: 3 Marketing Tips

Last Updated: April 10, 2017

If you've been reading my blog for anytime at all, then you'll know my main source of income – and what I write about most often – is selling T-Shirts through print-on-demand platforms like Merch By Amazon and Redbubble.

Almost all of those sales come organically.

That means I don't do much 'direct' marketing of my own, and I do almost no paid-marketing (i.e. Advertising). Well, that is beginning to change.

I've been playing around with Shopify for a few months now, and am beginning to see some success using paid traffic via Instagram – specifically by reaching out to popular, relevant accounts and paying them for sponsored posts.

YOUR QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Brands and Branding while Selling T-Shirts Online: Your Questions Answered

Last Updated: April 10, 2017

When it comes to selling T-Shirt online, branding is one of the things you'll wrestle with sooner or later.

- Should you have one T-Shirt 'brand' for all your designs – or several?
- Should you keep your brand identity specific to a single niche, or broad and general to appeal to as many people as possible?
- Should you brand yourself as an individual artist / designer, or as a business / company?

These are questions I get asked a lot, so I thought I'd delve into some of the various considerations here...

The Founders

Neil L:

Internet marketer, growth hacker, and passive income expert featured by Entrepreneur.com and CNBC.com.

Todor K:

Old School Internet Marketer, Merch Early Adopter, Serial Entrepreneur

Merch By Amazon Early Adopters

Both Todor and Neil started on Merch almost as soon as it was opened. Already selling items on Amazon via FBA, they were very familiar with how everything worked and were amazed at the opportunity to sell products on the biggest marketplace in the world without holding inventory. They saw an opportunity and got to work.

Selling via Merch ended up being very lucrative for them. As they ran other internet businesses at the same time, they decided to sell off one of their T-Shirt companies. To their knowledge, this was the first company that utilized Merch and was sold for $73k.

The account that is still held enjoys a nice high four-figure income each and every month. They know exactly what it takes to be successful with Merch by Amazon and created Merch Informer to help other people reach the level of success they have enjoyed with this new platform.

How To Use Upwork To Outsource And Scale Your Merch Business May 22, 2017

When you first get accepted to Merch by Amazon, it is one of the best feelings ever! You have 10 slots available with 2 uploads per day. The possibilities seem endless (and they are!). What we recommend is always to dive in headfirst. Get a good feel for the research process, understand how BSR correlates with sales, and then figure your way around a set of design tools. It could be Photoshop; it could be GIMP, or something simple like Make-Merch. No matter what you decide to use, just get to know how to design yourself.

Ultimate AMS (Amazon Marketing Services) Guide to Marketing Your Merch May 16, 2017

When Merch by Amazon began, the program was targeted at app developers. Once the news was out about this program that would allow you to sell products on Amazon and produce a royalty without dealing with customers or inventory, people absolutely flooded the Merch by Amazon signup page, and they became invite only.

Since then competition has grown and so have the amount of people selling merch through MBA. Some people say it has gotten harder to sell shirts, some thing it is still easy as ever. The one thing that everyone has been missing though is the ability to run ads to their Merch by Amazon shirts if they were not app developers. There was no option to run cost per click ads to shirts like there is in seller central for people doing FBA.

How many times have you seen someone mention or felt that you were just not getting any sales through Merch by Amazon leaving frustrated even though they were all posted on social media? Social media can be one of the biggest opportunities for selling your Merch if you do it correctly. The fact is though, that simply posting your shirts to social media is not going to work unless you put in the legwork first.

Merch Pricing Strategies – Why You Are Leaving Money On The Table April 24, 2017

Since we started Merch Informer, we have seen almost every pricing strategy in the book. This is something that most people will probably never agree completely on, and thus, has been the topic of hot debate in the past. Should you price high to be seen as the premium option? You WILL make the most royalty per shirt this way, that is for sure. Should you price right in the middle of the pack of designs and try to compete less on price, but more on unique, amazing designs? Or, do you throw all of that out the window and attempt to make only a few cents per shirt sale and price at the bottom of the barrel in the hopes that you will stick out among the thousands of people you might competing with. “Have some self respect!” some might say.

There are two paths you can go by for making your own t-shirt design: downloading graphics and fonts and using Photoshop to put them together for a totally DIY t-shirt design or using a t-shirt template from a design generator that lets you get creative while taking care of all the technicalities for you.

I tested both alternatives by making my very own Mother's Day t-shirt design from zero, here's how it went.

Listing Optimizer

Having the best designs imaginable are not enough if you want to make sales. You need your product listings to be seen, which is why we recently released the product listing optimizer.

Split into two parts, the listing optimizer will both help you write better product descriptions and features based on relevant synonyms as well as help you tweak the pages you already have up. Cross reference ASINs and keywords to the product pages you have already created to see how well they are optimized.

Not taking the time to optimize your listings is leaving money on the table! Get your products in front of your buyers by running every listing through our optimizer for your best chance at success.

The screenshot shows a search interface with a search bar containing 'texas eat food' and a 'SEARCH' button. Below the search bar is a notification: 'Results are only shown for keywords with synonyms found'. The main content is a 'Synonyms' table with columns for Keyword, Noun, Adjective, and Verb.

Keyword	Noun	Adjective	Verb
texas	Texas Lone-Star State TX American state
eat			eat feed eat on consume eat up use up deplete exhaust run through wipe out corrode rust damage drop expend have ingest spend take take in vex worry
food	nutrient solid food food for thought intellectual nourishment cognitive content content matter mental object solid substance

Organized Favorites

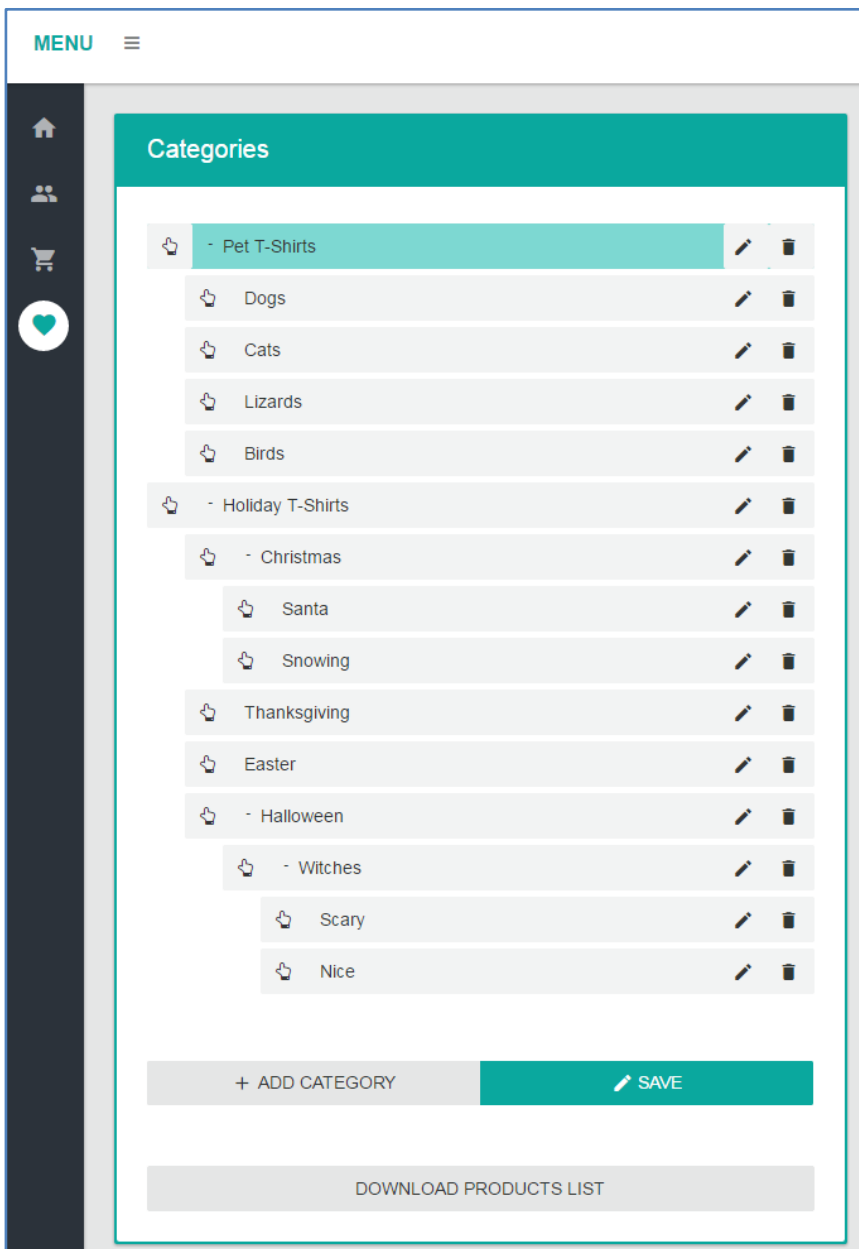

Long gone are the days of manually adding your ideas and inspiration to spreadsheets and trying to keep them organized. With our favorites feature, you can create organization trees to place designs that you want to improve upon in the future. This is especially useful by breaking down different niches, or keeping lists for separate designers.

Once you are satisfied with your choices, simply click on Download Product List and choose which options you want to be included in your download. You have the option to choose from:

- Title
- Image UR
- ASIN
- Price
- Features
- Description

You may choose which you want to include or not include in your spreadsheet and then click submit.

You now will have a perfectly organized spreadsheet to shoot of to your designer to do all the work!

The 'Details' column has an upward arrow icon, 'History' has a circular arrow icon, and 'Delete' has a trash can icon. Below the table, there is a 'Keywords' section with a 'SAVE' button. A: Not necessarily. If the wording used in your design or the design itself does not meet Merch by Amazon’s rules, your design will not be approved. Make-Merch.com is continuing to receive great feedback.

If you're serious about Merch By Amazon and you also value your own time, Make-Merch.com is one of the best investments you can make.

You can rapidly create Merch By Amazon designs and save them in Merch ready format. Gotta love the way you can click on the "new and trending images" and get great ideas for your next design.

This is a comment I received from Kimberly S.:

"I wanted to let you know I signed up for Make-Merch and I love it. I know nothing about designing or art... It took me about 5 minutes to design the shirt. I then went straight to Merch By Amazon, uploaded it in two minutes and it's already live. It is a really great program. Last night I designed a shirt for my niece's bachelorette party. Everyone thought I was a genius because I did it in record time. They all love the shirt!"

The advertisement features a dark blue header with the Adobe Photoshop logo (a square with 'Ps' inside) and the text 'ADOBE PHOTOSHOP CC' followed by a downward-pointing chevron. Below the header is a large, surreal image of a man in a small wooden boat riding a wave. The wave is depicted as a 3D block of water, with the top surface being the wave's crest and the bottom surface being the water's surface. The man is standing in the boat, holding a long pole. The background is a dark, cloudy sky. The text 'Create anything you can imagine. Anywhere you are.' is centered over the image. Below this, a paragraph of text describes the app's capabilities. At the bottom, there is a link: 'New to Photoshop? Get the basics >'.

For a fixed monthly fee, we provide unlimited graphic design for anything – from leaflets and flyers, to logos and brochures. From book covers to Facebook covers, if it requires a design, we do it.

And we don't limit the task to be less than 30 minutes, or an hour – if you have a multi page brochure that needs designing and it takes 3 hours, that's fine.

If you have a need for a logo, and there's a bit of back and forth to tweak it, also fine – no limits on the revisions.

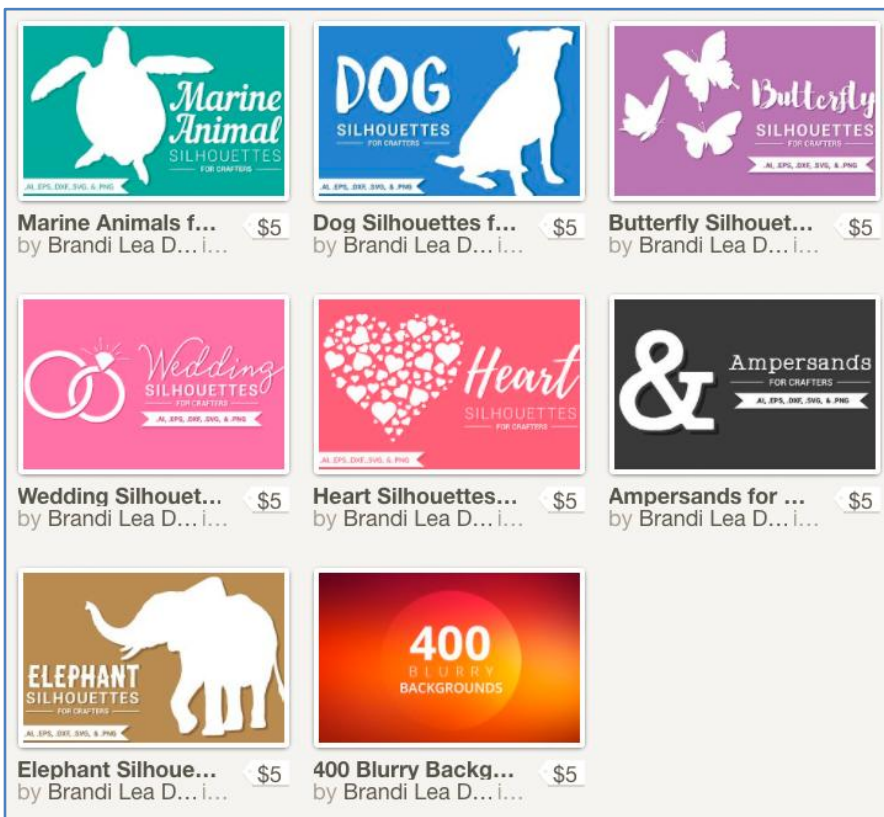

Think of it like a membership to an awesome design club – you pay your fee, and you can use it for whatever design needs you have.

30 free public domain image websites (use with care)

99designs.com/blog/resources/public-domain-image-resources by Rebecca Creger

Free public domain images are an important cultural resource for everyone. But when using them as a designer you must be extremely vigilant about double-checking the license and terms of each of your desired images.

Some of these free public domain image websites will take time to look through and research properly, but there are a lot of amazing images in them that are worth finding. Just remember to keep these things in mind when sourcing images:

1. Does the license of the image allow you to use/distribute it in the way that you intend?
2. Is the quality of this image suitable for both print and web uses?
3. Are these images defined as public domain by images by the copyright laws of both countries that my client and I are citizens of?
4. Have I double-checked that this image is truly in the public domain? (run it through a search engine before using it.)
5. Does this image include trademarks, products, property, works of art, or people? If so make sure that a release has been obtained or that you obtain one yourself.

Find my latest Men's T-Shirt Mockups here: <http://crtv.mk/b0IYv>

When you search the web you will definitely find a lot of clothing mock-ups out there, I even found some with good quality. But what all these mock-ups have in common is the fact that they are flat t-shirts with out any personal touch. In fact you cant really determine if your design will work on a human being in a real-life enviroment, so how should your clients!?

On TMHunt.com you'll find 3 different search types to avoid trademark infringement, avoid rejections and keep your Merch account safe. Results will show matching trademarks in IC 025 (clothing class) only and the database is updated daily with official USPTO records.

- Multi Search: Enter a list of quotes, slogans or keywords;
- Split Search: Enter one quote to split it and search for its individual parts. All combinations of adjacent words will be searched, from single words to the whole sentence. To explain it better, searching "YOU CAN'T SCARE ME I'M A BASEBALL MOM" on TESS won't show any results, but using the Split Search on TMHunt you'll find two "hidden" text trademarks ("YOU CAN'T SCARE" and "BASEBALL MOM"). Filter by "Status: Live" and "Type: Text" to hide design-only and dead trademarks.
- Wildcard Search: use an asterisk as a wildcard character, e.g. "IN * WE TRUST";

You can filter results by status (live or dead), type (text, design, typeset) and registration.

Merch users most likely want to avoid "Text" trademarks (Standard Character Marks) with a "live" status.

Clicking on the serial number will bring up the USPTO trademark page, where you can check further details.

In the "Reports" menu on top, you can browse clothing trademarks applications filed last week, registered last week and currently published for opposition.

Wordle is a toy for generating “word clouds” from text that you provide. The clouds give greater prominence to words that appear more frequently in the source text. You can tweak your clouds with different fonts, layouts, and color schemes. The images you create with Wordle are yours to use however you like. You can print them out, or save them to your own desktop to use as you wish.
